

The book

Yes, there is a person different from me
I meditate on the gulf of thinking
I am dumb

I still waver in
My way to interpret "difference"
The differences are fragrant fruits
And profound gorges
And bracing clear breezes

In otherness
Mild lights of hope get buried